The Lebanese Public Opinion Before the Issuance of Mehlis's Report

It seems that Mehlis is far more renown than the State General Prosecutor or the Lebanese Investigating Magistrate responsible for the Hariri Assassination case, as 97% of the respondents knew his name, while 56.9% knew Mirza's name and only 38.6% Eid's name

الحق فيه

62% of the respondents described the international investigation as "JUST & FAIR", while 26.6% thought of it as "biased & politicized"...

40.5% of the respondents were HUMILIATED by the fact that the Lebanese & Syrian authorities dealt so dutifully and with such respect with Mehlis, without displaying a similar behavior with regards to the Lebanese and Syrian judges.

39.8% took pride in this and considered it as a step towards the restoration of the rule of law in Lebanon...
